September 13, 2016

Greetings from Mr. Neumeier, Principal

Every day I look at the smiling faces of your children and I see God there. They are miles removed from adults whose attention is absorbed in what secular society tells us we need to be doing. A positive attitude toward life is what we all want for the children we work with each day. In your home, you have the power to nurture your children and set their hearts on fire for God. Join me in remembering to:

- Live close to God
- Set a good example in every word spoken and every act performed in their presence

Let your children know that it is love that makes mom and dad brave and heroic. Children love to do things for mom and dad. Make it a point this week to encourage your children to show their love to their family, friends, and teacher, in deeds. Require your children to help around the house and encourage them to always ask, "May I help you with that?" Training children in good habits of generous helping and serving, easily learns habits of prayer, of self-sacrifice, and of virtue. The idea of doing things for the love of the Lord, becomes part of the nature of the child. We love your children this week and every week.

Patriot Day: A message shared with SAS

Today we remember those lives lost 15 years ago on September 11, 2001. We remember them again today, on Patriot's Day. There are many soldiers and world leaders trying to stop people from doing bad things that take away our freedom. Today, our special prayer is for God to bless our world leaders and especially the soldiers who are trying to make the world a better place. The first step for peace must begin in our hearts, our homes, in our own school. As we follow our own Schoolwide Learning Expectations and the Character Counts, let us always respond compassionately to the needs of others. Let us also remember that God is our protection. He will take care of us. Let us also remember to show kindness and mercy to everyone we meet. Thank you to Nicole Smittcamp and Gentry Conner for keeping this memory in our minds and hearts as well as ending with the beautiful peace prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

Picture Day is Tomorrow

Picture day is tomorrow, Wednesday, September 14th. Photographers will begin taking pictures at 8:15am. All students must come to school in Uniform dress. Photos will be used in our school yearbook. If you are planning on purchasing photos, please have your student bring the envelope with payment that came home last week.

We wish Mr. Gonzalez a Happy Birthday on Thursday, September 15th.

Carnival News

Mark your calendar for Sunday, September 25 for our annual School Carnival. If you are interested in sponsoring an event at the Carnival, please come by the school office and pick up the paperwork. Don't forget to turn in your raffle tickets! We hold a random weekly drawing for those who sell at least one book of raffle tickets. Help your child's class be the top seller for great treats! We also have family prizes for the top-selling family each week of the raffle. If you are interested in sponsoring a family prize to motivate our students in selling raffle tickets, please contact Mrs. Lisa Dean at ldean@sasfresno.com. Carnival t-shirts are here! If you would like to order a t-shirt for your child and other family members, please see the attached flyer. Remember, these shirts can be worn on spirit day which is every Thursday.

Parking on School Grounds (Playground and Basketball Areas)

Please remember there is NO PARKING on school grounds between the hours of 8:00am and 6:00pm, Monday through Friday. It is not safe for vehicles to be on campus during those times as school is in sessions and children are playing on the playgrounds and after school sporting events and campus care are in session. This includes teachers, coaches, support staff and parents. Thank you for your cooperation.

SchoolSpeak Usernames and Password

Tomorrow, Wednesday, September 14th, all parents who have an email listed in your account will be receiving an email with your username and password. Please be sure to verify that you are logging in as a parent and NOT as your student. If you are unable to log-in for parent hours, sign progress reports, and see all your students in one family, these are all signs that you are logged in as your student and not as the parent. This information you will be receiving will resolve these issues.

SAS Alum News

We are proud to report news about our SAS alumni and what they are currently up to; Justin Gilio who graduated from St. Anthony's in 2003, (he also had two brothers attend SAS, Josh Gilio, class of 2005 and Kevin Gilio class of 2007) attended San Joaquin Memorial where he graduated as one of the valedictorians in 2007, and went onto Santa Clara University with a full ride scholarship and graduated summa cum laude in 2011. This past May, Justin graduated from Harvard Law School with Latin Honors. He will be returning to the west coast and will be working at one of the top law firms in the country, Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher in Los Angeles, California. His advice for current students is something he read in one of his ethics classes at Santa Clara: "Think kind thoughts; they become your words. Speak kind thoughts; they become your actions. Perform kind acts; they become your habits. Develop a kind character; your character becomes your destiny." These are great thoughts and words for all of us to contemplate. We want to wish him the best of luck in his future endeavor and we are certainly proud to claim him as a St. Anthony's Alum. Please send SAS Alum News to greynolds@sasfresno.com for future Tuesday Newsletters.

Prayer Line

Our SAS community is welcome and encouraged to email prayer requests to prayerline@sasfresno.com. We pray for Barbara Manning, Petunia's Place co-owner and SAS supporter and friend. Mrs. Manning will be remembered fondly for working with Mrs. Polacek for 11 years to bring an excellent Book Fair to our students. May perpetual light shine upon her.

Cinderella Team

St Anthony 7th graders played in a National Baseball Tournament this summer at Cooperstown Dreams Park. Out of 104 teams they won the whole tournament!! They were the Cinderella team ranked 29th out of top 32 who made the cut. It was so exciting and we are so proud of them. From left to right: Seth Gonzales, Sam Tookoian, Jack Sampson, Mikey Bell.

Parent Teacher Conferences

Monday 9/26

Tuesday 9/27

Wednesday 9/28

The teachers have met and scheduled all students for an upcoming Parent Teacher Conference. Look for forms to come home this week. Each conference will last 15 minutes. Please contact Mrs. Stone in the school office to reschedule your conference, should you need to so. Make it a point to mark your calendar and arrive on time. Conferences scheduled for the day will be posted on the bulletin board outside your child's classroom. The Parent Teacher Conference is an opportunity for parents to learn about their child's progress in school for teachers to gain insights into their students' home and community lives. Parent perspectives on student strengths and needs, learning styles, and non-school learning opportunities can help teachers shape their instructional methods. See you soon!

NEW: School Flag Program

Dear Parent,

How much pollution is in the air today? You can find out by simply looking at the flag pole. Our school has adopted the Air Quality Flag Program which means we will fly brightly colored flags to show how clean the air is each day.

The flags correspond to the colors of the Air Quality Index (www.airnow.gov). The AQI is an index for reporting daily air quality. It tells you how clean or polluted your air is, and what associated health effects might be a concern for you.

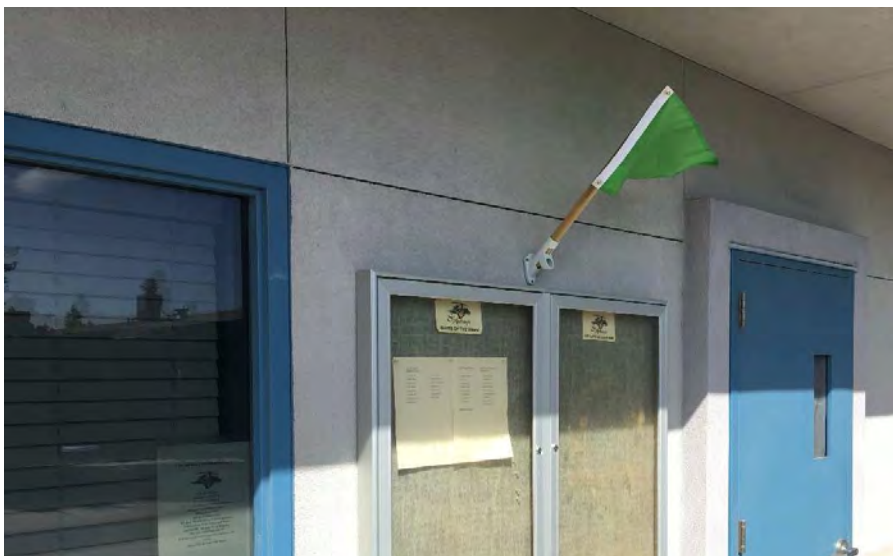

Every school day we fly a flag with one of the following colors:

- Green – good air quality
- Yellow – moderate air quality,
 - Students who are unusually sensitive to air pollution could have symptoms.
- Orange – unhealthy sensitive people, including children and teenagers
 - It's OK to be active outside, especially for short activities such as recess and physical education.
 - Watch for symptoms and take action as needed.
 - Students with asthma should follow their asthma action plans.
- Red – unhealthy for everyone
 - Consider moving longer or more intense activities indoors or rescheduling.
 - For all outdoor activities, take more breaks and do less intense activities.
- Purple – very unhealthy for everyone
 - Move all activities indoors or reschedule them to another day.

The good news is the Air Quality Flag Program helps protect students' health. On green and yellow days we will encourage students to be outside and moving. When air quality is orange or red, it is still OK to play outside, but we will encourage kids to take some breaks and to do activities that might involve walking and jogging instead of running and sprinting. If the flag is purple, we will play inside that day.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is promoting the Air Quality Flag Program to schools in many U.S. cities and we are proud to be involved. In addition to raising flags, we will have in-class activities to learn more about air pollution, how it affects us, and what we can do to make the air cleaner.

For more information on the Flag Program, go to www.airnow.gov/flag.

Air Quality and Outdoor Activity Guidance for Schools

Regular physical activity — at least 60 minutes each day — promotes health and fitness. The table below shows when and how to modify outdoor physical activity based on the Air Quality Index. This guidance can help protect the health of all children, including teenagers, who are more sensitive than adults to air pollution. Check the air quality daily at www.airnow.gov.

Air Quality Index	Outdoor Activity Guidance
 green GOOD	Great day to be active outside!
 yellow MODERATE	Good day to be active outside! Students who are unusually sensitive to air pollution could have symptoms.*
 orange UNHEALTHY FOR SENSITIVE GROUPS	It's OK to be active outside, especially for short activities such as recess and physical education (PE). For longer activities such as athletic practice, take more breaks and do less intense activities. Watch for symptoms and take action as needed.* Students with asthma should follow their asthma action plans and keep their quick-relief medicine handy.
 red UNHEALTHY	For all outdoor activities, take more breaks and do less intense activities. Consider moving longer or more intense activities indoors or rescheduling them to another day or time. Watch for symptoms and take action as needed.* Students with asthma should follow their asthma action plans and keep their quick-relief medicine handy.
 purple VERY UNHEALTHY	Move all activities indoors or reschedule them to another day.

* Watch for Symptoms

Air pollution can make asthma symptoms worse and trigger attacks. Symptoms of asthma include coughing, wheezing, difficulty breathing, and chest tightness. Even students who do not have asthma could experience these symptoms.

If symptoms occur:

The student might need to take a break, do a less intense activity, stop all activity, go indoors, or use quick-relief medicine as prescribed. If symptoms don't improve, get medical help.

Go for 60!

CDC recommends that children get 60 or more minutes of physical activity each day. www.cdc.gov/healthyyouth/physicalactivity/guidelines.htm

Plan Ahead for Ozone

There is less ozone in the morning. On days when ozone is expected to be at unhealthy levels, plan outdoor activities in the morning.

Questions and Answers

How long can students stay outside when the air quality is unhealthy?

There is no exact amount of time. The worse the air quality, the more important it is to take breaks, do less intense activities, and watch for symptoms. Remember that students with asthma will be more sensitive to unhealthy air.

Why should students take breaks and do less intense activities when air quality is unhealthy?

Students breathe harder when they are active for a longer period of time or when they do more intense activities. More pollution enters the lungs when a person is breathing harder. It helps to:

- ✓ reduce the amount of time students are breathing hard (e.g., take breaks; rotate players frequently)
- ✓ reduce the intensity of activities so students are not breathing so hard (e.g., walk instead of run)

Are there times when air pollution is expected to be worse?

Ozone pollution is often worse on hot sunny days, especially during the afternoon and early evening. Plan outdoor activities in the morning, when air quality is better and it is not as hot.

Particle pollution can be high any time of day. Since vehicle exhaust contains particle pollution, limit activity near idling cars and buses and near busy roads, especially during rush hours. Also, limit outdoor activity when there is smoke in the air.

How can I find out the daily air quality?

Go to www.airnow.gov. Many cities have an Air Quality Index (AQI) forecast that tells you what the local air quality will be later today or tomorrow, and a current AQI that tells you what the local air quality is now. The AirNow website also tells you whether the pollutant of concern is ozone or particle pollution. Sign up for emails, download the free AirNow app, or install the free AirNow widget on your website. You can also find out how to participate (and register your school) in the School Flag Program (www.airnow.gov/schoolflag).

If students stay inside because of unhealthy outdoor air quality, can they still be active?

It depends on which pollutant is causing the problem:

Ozone pollution: If windows are closed, the amount of ozone should be much lower indoors, so it is OK to keep students moving.

Particle pollution: If the building has a forced air heating or cooling system that filters out particles then the amount of particle pollution should be lower indoors, and it is OK to keep students moving. It is important that the particle filtration system is installed properly and well maintained.

What physical activities can students do inside?

Encourage indoor activities that keep all students moving. Plan activities that include aerobic exercise as well as muscle and bone strengthening components (e.g., jumping, skipping, sit-ups, pushups). If a gymnasium or open space is accessible, promote activities that use equipment, such as cones, hula hoops, and sports balls. If restricted to the classroom, encourage students to come up with fun ways to get everyone moving (e.g., act out action words from a story). Teachers and recess supervisors can work with PE teachers to identify additional indoor activities.

What is an asthma action plan?

An asthma action plan is a written plan developed with a student's doctor for daily management of asthma. It includes medication plans, control of triggers, and how to recognize and manage worsening asthma symptoms. See www.cdc.gov/asthma/actionplan.html for a link to sample asthma action plans. When asthma is well managed and well controlled, students should be able to participate fully in all activities. For a booklet on "Asthma and Physical Activity in the School," see <http://www.nhlbi.nih.gov/health/resources/lung/asthma-physical-activity.htm>.
